

CREATES
INSTITUT FOR ØKONOMI
AARHUS UNIVERSITET

EC², Aarhus, Dec 10-11, 2021

Call for papers

Confirmed keynote speakers

Christiane Baumeister (University of Notre Dame)
Hilde Bjørnland (BI Norwegian Business School)
Mar Reguant (Northwestern University)
Tatyana Deryugina (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)

Conference website

This year's edition of the European Conferences of the Econom[etr]ics Community (EC²) is hosted by CREATES, Aarhus University, on Dec 10 and 11.

The theme of the conference is :

Econometrics of Climate, Energy, and Resources and papers on these topics will be given priority for the main program. We plan for an in-person on-site conference (with the possibility to join online if preferred). We will fall back to an online format should the dynamic situation cross these plans.

We invite submissions of papers for presentation at the conference by Oct 1, 2021 at the email address: 2021.ec2@econ.au.dk

We will notify presenters of acceptance by Oct 22, 2021.

In order to help us resolve some of the higher-than-normal uncertainty, please state in your email whether you plan to attend in person if accepted, and whether you would participate in the conference dinner on Dec 10.

Concurrent with the conference, Energy Economics will be inviting submissions to a special issue on the same topic.

We look forward to welcoming you to Aarhus in December!

Frank Kleibergen
EC² Director

Eric Hillebrand
Local Organizer

Richard S.J. Tol
Program Chair

Sponsors:

European Central Bank

Econometric Theory

